It has been the boast of Montana as a territory that for a humber of years there has been a surplus in the treasury, able itching after getting warm. This which at the date of the last annual report of Treasurer Preuitt amounted to something like $145,000. A treasury surplus is no great benefit to a state or a nation; indeed, the reduction of the surplus in the United States treasury forms a problem upon which great political a problem upon which great political battles are being fought, just as the national debt question has been a source and other countries. A "happy medium" in the matter of surplus and debt is what is most desired. Starting as Montana does in the career of statehood free from debt, and with a snug sum in the treasury, in spite of reckless enactments by the last legislative assembly, it should be pessible for the state to maintain that be possible for the state to maintain that "happy medium" by the exercise of a close supervision over the expenditures. In a number of the states the heads of departments are required to submit with their reports of expenditures for the past fiscal year estimates for the next ensuing twelve months, so itemized that the legislature may be able to judge of the necessity of the requisition. Upon these estimates it is the rule to base the tax levy, and each department of the government is required to observe as closely as possible the limit fixed in his estimate. It is rather an unfortunate conjunction of events for Mr. Andrew Carnegie that the announcement that his great Pennsyltheyear be a deficiency, the sum thereof the year be a deficiency, the sum thereof The aim should be to make the expenditures conform to the income, so that there shall be neither a surplus nor a would be no floating debt, and the state is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarwould be a preferred purchaser in the rhosa Remedy. THE police authorities would be adding to the efficiency of the Helena force and raising its members in the esteem of citizens of all grades of respectability by enforcing a rule forbidding police officers to enter drinking saloons or gambling houses except in the exercise of their duty to preserve the peace and good order of society. There is too much of what has the appearance of fraternization on the part of the Helena peace officers with saloon and street-corner loungers. These gentry will have a great deal more regard for an officer who permits no familiarity and who is not to be of citizens of all grades of respectability mits no familiarity and who is not to be seen entering and drinking in saloons, as too often occurs in this city.
